DEDICATION

"The subordination of all individual desires and opinions to the call of duty has given meaning and nobility to life . . . Seeing our duty as a call, and the call as a vocation."

Bonhoeffer

Since September of 1961 South Hills Catholic has been guided by the hand of Brother Alfred Adams. Brother's wisdom and experience are forces which have maintained South Catholic as a leader in education. Brother Alfred's interest in continual improvement has led South to a position of honor. In all aspects of South Catholic, Brother's strong influence has been felt. Encouraging creativity and experimentation in teaching approaches, introducing roster advances, enthusiastic support of extra-curricular activities, and the introduction of small group retreats demonstrate Brother Alfred's demand for excellence at South Hills Catholic.

Outstanding among Brother's contributions to education is the audio-visual superiority enjoyed at South. Other schools lagged far behind while South took undisputed leadership in this field. The preeminence of South in this area was assured when Brother Alfred appeared on the first broadcast of South's closed circuit TV system.

While the television system remains as a visible reminder of the dedication of Brother Alfred, much more remains in realms which are not physical. The spirit of progress within tradition, the ideals of Christian leadership, the dedication to duty, and the demonstration of personal kindness to all which are displayed by Brother Alfred will remain as part of the tradition of South Hills Catholic. With great appreciation we, the graduating class of 1967, proudly dedicate this edition of the KNIGHT to Brother Alfred Adams.

"I do not believe that any of us would exchange places with any other people or any other generation. The energy, the faith, the devotion . . . will light our country and all who serve it—and the glow from that fire can truly light the world."

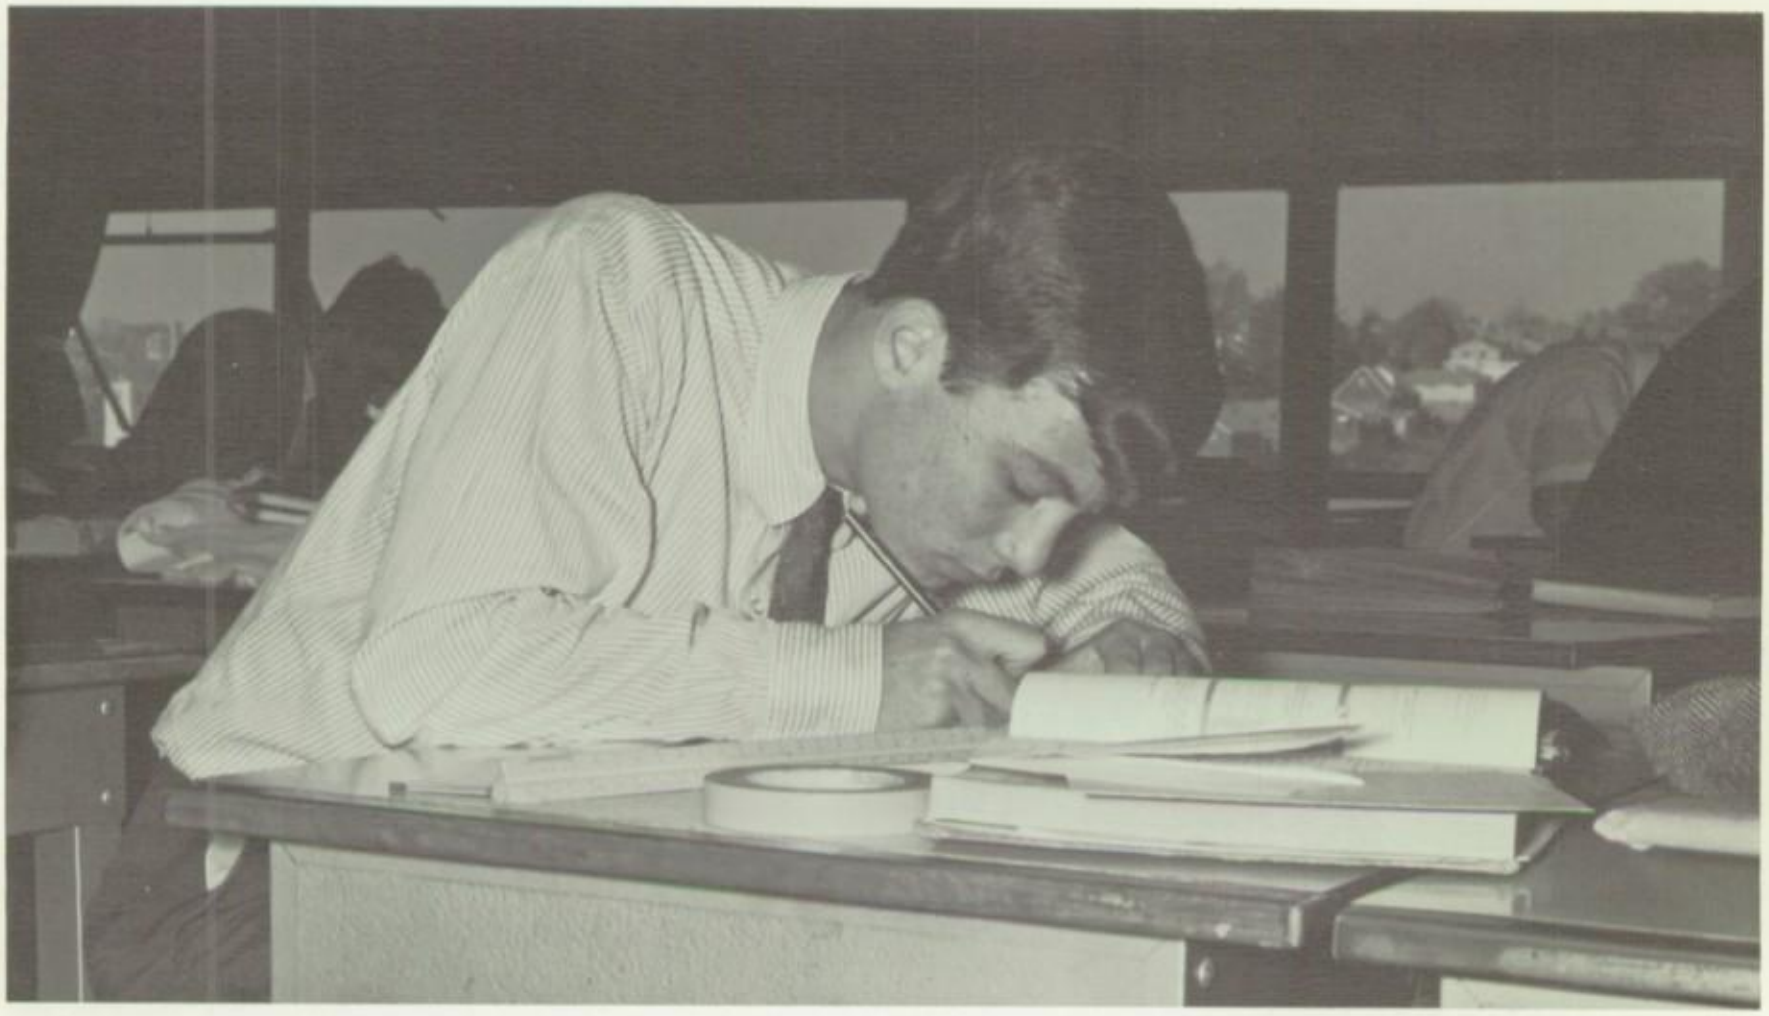
STUDENT LIFE



The 20th Century American Youth finds himself confronted by a rapidly changing world; astronauts rendezvous in space; open heart surgery is a reality; satellites transmit television signals around the world; accepted forms of behavior are constantly challenged. South Hills Catholic exists to aid the young men of this era meet the challenges presented to them. Meeting this end demands a youthful outlook. Youth enjoys a unique position. Novel ideas are given rank equal to tradition; change is looked upon with favor and expectation of improvement.

South Hills Catholic enjoys such a position. Young as an educational institution, South has incorporated new and bold plans with traditions. The ideals of Christian education are blended with the dynamic trends of the Sixties. Relevance is very important to youth and tradition alone does not bring relevance. By its nature tradition is a link with the past and must only be that—a link. Relevance can only be achieved by bringing new insights, new ideas, and new methods to cope with the new situations of youth. South Hills Catholic has accepted the challege of change and presents the South student with a vital, dynamic opportunity to meet reality.

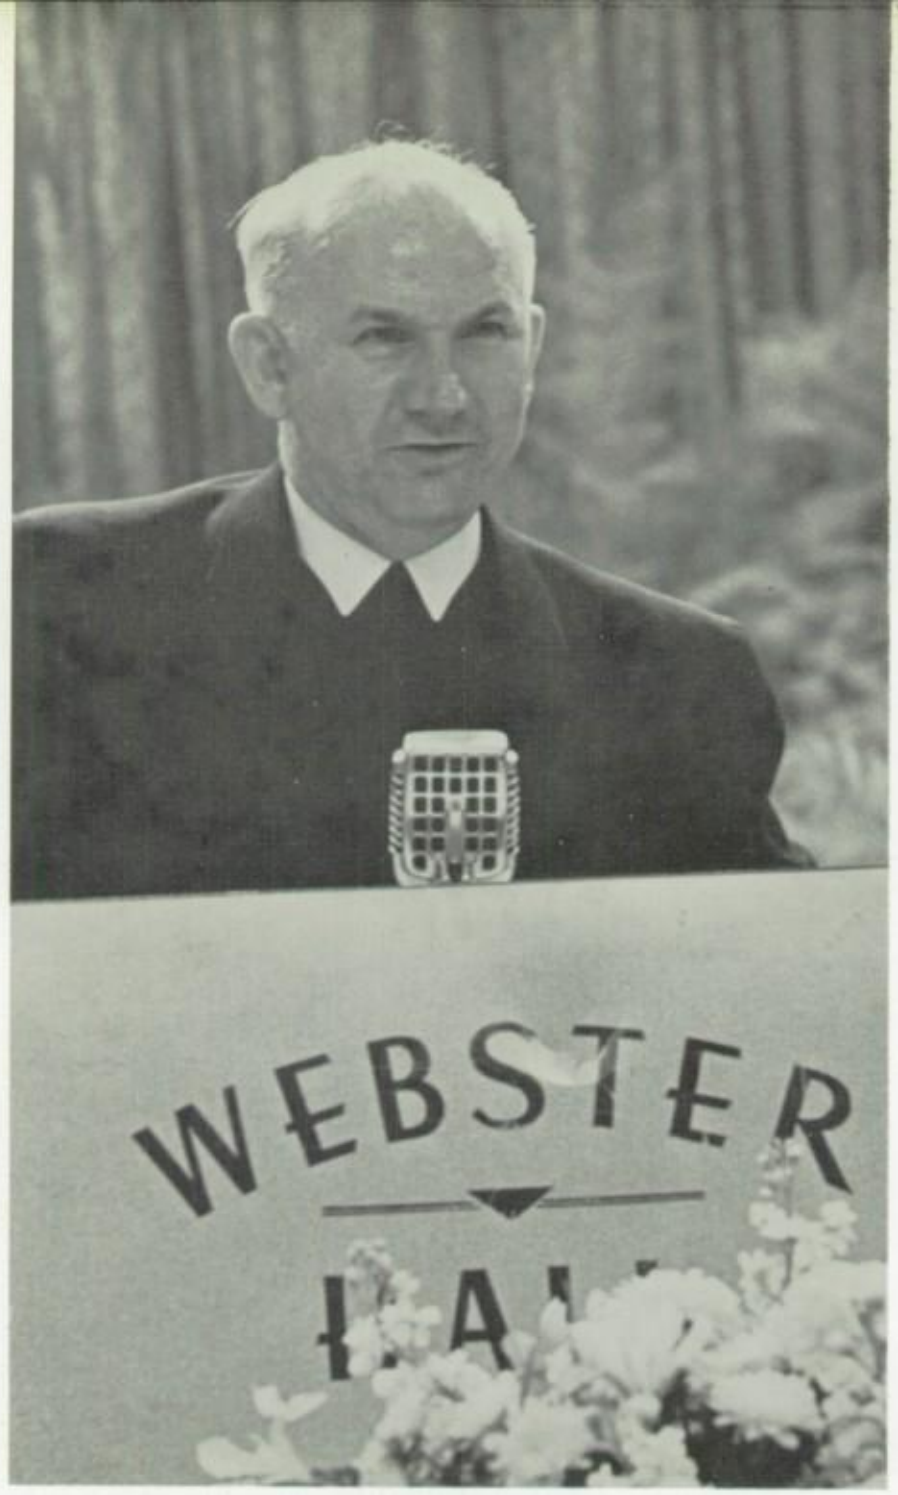
POWER

FACULTY



The faculty of South Hills Catholic High School presents a fine blend of rich tradition and progress. The Christian Brothers join with the dedicated lay faculty in keeping South's academic program contemporary yet tempered with tradition. Three hundred years of tradition are associated with the Christian Brothers. Since their founding in 1680, the brothers have been revered as progressive and excellent educators. The diocese of Pittsburgh has also established itself as a leader in the field of education.

At South Hills Catholic progress is mingled with the ideals which have been built up over past years. The faculty and program of study at South are continually improved through the further study by faculty members, the inauguration of new and improved courses and the introduction of modern audio-visual teaching devices.

The preservation of the good from the past with the introduction of the best of the present has been achieved by the faculty of South Hills Catholic. Excellence, dedication, generosity, and the enjoyment of strong bonds between the students and teachers are theories which become realities in the South Hills Catholic faculty.

and responsible actions in faith and exclusive allegiance to God. The responsible man seeks to make his whole life a response to the question and call of God."

Bonhoeffer

The Diocese of Pittsburgh has established seven regional high schools to provide Catholic education for a large number of students. Bishop John Wright, as Bishop of Pittsburgh, oversees the operation of these schools. Superintendent of Schools, Bishop John McDowell, handles the administrative duties of the diocesan school system.

South Hills Catholic High School was established in 1956 to meet the educational needs of the South Hills area. Brother Alfred Adams, F.S.C. has been Principal at South since 1960. Brother serves as the vital link between the diocesan organization and South. He oversees development and planning of all phases of the operation of South Catholic.

Specific administrative duties are handled by several members of South's faculty. Brother Thomas Chadwick, F.S.C., Assistant Principal, directs rostering for all students and controls the academic program. Brother Carl Roth, F.S.C., Dean of Discipline, maintains school policy. The responsibility of directing the guidance program rests with Brother Roderick Walsh, F.S.C. All school athletic programs are co-ordinated by the Athletic Director, Brother Michael Romero, F.S.C. These men guide South Hills Catholic to the fulfillment of its educational aims.

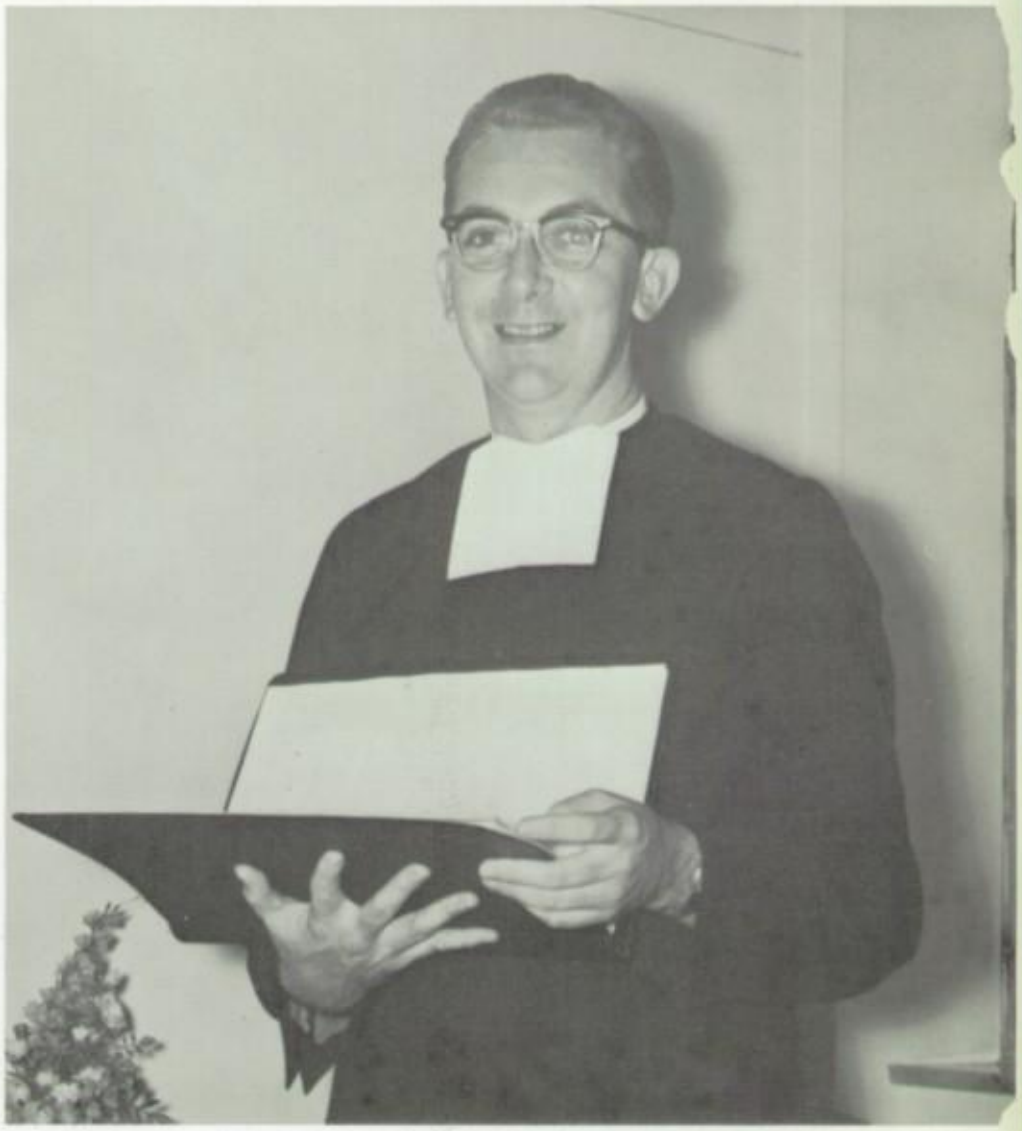
ACADEMICS

"Without ideals, without effort, without scholarship, without philosophical continuity, there is no such thing as education."

Thoreau



BROTHER THOMAS CHADWICK, F.S.C., M.A., M.Ed.
Assistant Principal

The idea of tradition with change at South Hills Catholic is readily visible in the curriculum. During South's ten year history, the curriculum offerings have improved and expanded. South Catholic is a college preparatory high school and therefore, the courses are selected to equip the student with the skills and information he will need to continue his education.

A basic core of studies has been established for all students to follow. This program includes Religion, literature and composition, and social studies at each grade level and three years of mathematics. These courses are designed to present fundamental knowledge to the student. This fundamental knowledge helps the student apply what he has learned to new situations. It brings skill in analyzing problems and making effective decisions. It increases ability to communicate ideas to others.

At South variety can be found even within the basic curriculum. Mathematics, which is required for three years, is offered in twelve different courses. An Advanced Placement Program leads to Calculus in the senior year in preparation for the Advanced Placement Exam. The advanced math program can also lead to a Math Analysis course, which is intended as an immediate preparation for college calculus. For the student who is taking math but does not want advanced standing a variety of other courses is available.

The Religion Department is in the process of changing the four year religion program. The new developments in the teaching of religion are mindful of tradition and alert to the responsibilities pointed out by the Second Vatican Council.

The English Department is also changing its four year program. An Advanced English program is in operation and extends over all four years. This program prepares the particularly able student to by-pass freshman English requirements in college. The English courses introduce the student to literature and clear thinking and writing. Next year the change on the four year program will be complete.

The Social Studies courses at South begin with a three semester survey of world cultures. American History, Economics and Government courses are given to bring the student a sense of history and an understanding of economic principles and the workings of various governmental systems.

The Science Department, which is also in the process of expanding and improving its program, brings to the student a knowledge and understanding of the physical world. Space Science and Physics bring the material world into mathematical perspective. Biology and Chemistry examine the components of the physical world qualitatively. The CHEM Studies and BSCS Biology programs are offered. An accelerated program, now in partial operation, will cover all four years in the 1967-68 school year.

Language instruction, whether in Latin or modern languages, is offered in two and four year programs. The audio-lingual method of instruction is facilitated by South's language labs.

A variety of electives are offered in order to meet the desires of individual students as well as possible. Aside from the choice involved in basic subjects, such as mathematics, languages and sciences, other courses are available to the students. Modern European History, Introduction to Psychology and Sociology, Mechanical Drawing, Typing and Art are offered for students who would like pre-college training in these areas.

The vitality of the academic program at South is certainly indicated by the continual effort to improve. Three major departments, Religion, English and Science, will complete next September new four year programs. The Fine Film Course is now bringing South students information on the audio-visual media through the presentation of excellent films, such as To Kill A Mockingbird. Experimentation with the possibilities presented by South's closed circuit television system is just beginning.

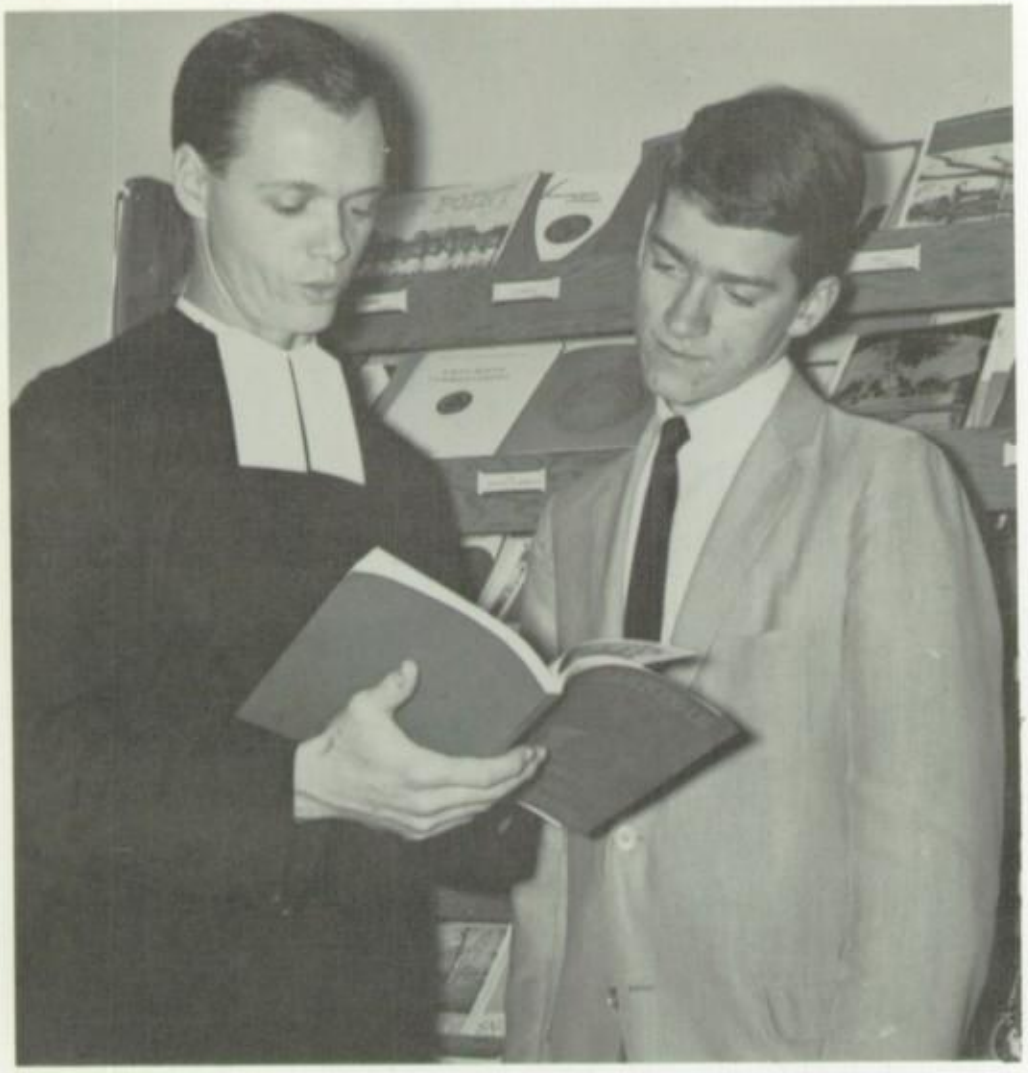
GUIDANCE



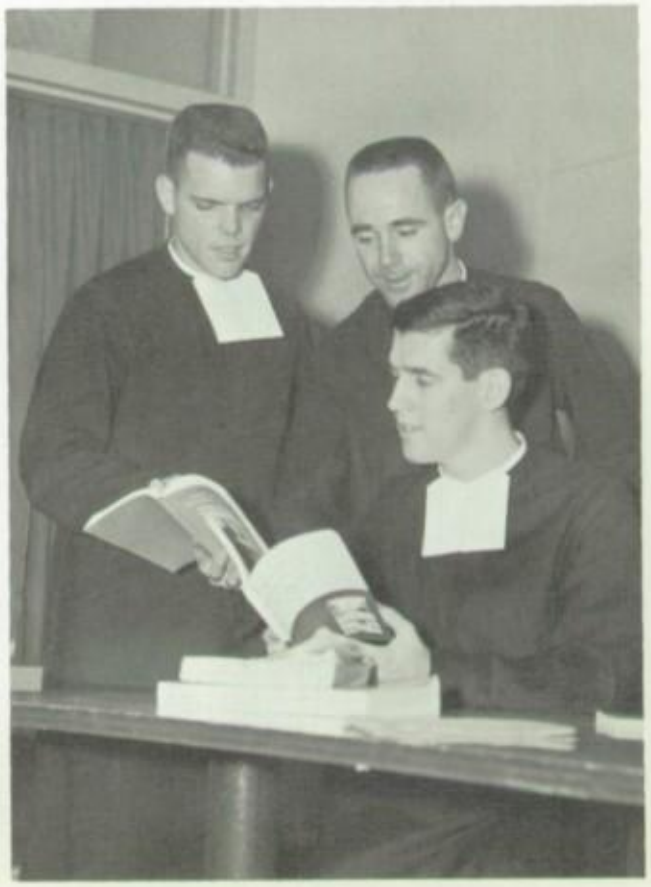
BROTHER RODERICK WALSH, F.S.C., M.A., Director of Counseling

The Guidance Department at South Hills Catholic seeks to fulfill a twofold function: to provide counseling toward personal understanding and growth, and to provide guidance toward academic motivation and planning. Keys to the realization of these goals are individual interviews, group guidance sessions and an extensive program of progressive testing. Freshmen classes engage in group guidance sessions as a regular part of their class schedule, while for sophomores, juniors, and seniors such sessions are less regular, and correlate more with reports of school grades and test scores. With progression toward the senior year, however, individual interviews and counseling sessions become more important and are more available. These interviews are carried out by a staff of four counselors, including the guidance director.

Winding through the four year guidance program and providing much of the objective evidence on which responsible guidance is based, is a well-planned series of nationally standardized tests of academic aptitudes and achievement. Principal among the tests administered are the National Educational Development Test, the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, and the College Board's series of tests. The national percentile ratings made available through these tests, used in correlation with the achieved grades of our student body, make possible a realistic appraisal of the students' achievements and the school's proficiency.

The final goal of our guidance program is successful college or other post-high school placement. To this end, individual interviews and standardized tests are utilized in conjunction with school visits by representatives of various post-high school educational institutions. This program has been successful to the extent that between eighty and ninety percent of our graduates are accepted into institutions of further education.

Brother Lawrence Dempsey; Brother Gerard Molyneaux; and Brother Vincent Walters, Counselors.



ATHLETICS

The Athletic Department at South Hills Catholic provides a complete and varied athletic program for over 1176 students on both the interscholastic and the intrascholastic levels of competition, as well as a sound physical education program. Among the activities provided are: Football, Cross-Country, Rifle, Bowling, Golf, Basketball, Wrestling, Baseball, and Track.

Interscholastic sports provide the better athlete with a challenge. He engages in sports on a larger scale and on a more proficient level. He must devote more time and exercise greater self-discipline to master the sport. He participates in more intense competition with more heavily weighted outcomes. This is a great opportunity to learn to be a gracious winner or to accept limitation. The balanced varsity player profits immensely from the opportunity provided by interscholastic sports.

Only a small minority of students are able to participate in varsity sports but every student can become involved in intramurals. The program has been organized so as to take into consideration the many interests and abilities of the student body. Football, basketball, track, wrestling, golf, bowling, volley ball, tug-of-war, softball, horseshoes, ping-pong, chess, and checkers are all included in the present program.

Brother Lawrence Dempsey and Brother John Lorenz, Directors of Intramurals.

The intramural program at SHC offers each student the opportunity of realizing the varied benefits derived from competitive sports. These sports contribute an essential element toward the complete development, in both body and spirit, of every student. This is thought to be so important that intramurals are initiated the first week of school and continue until June. An intramural assembly is held once each semester. At this time individual and team awards such as trophies, medals and certificates are presented.

"This is a generation of dazzling diversity, encompassing an intellectual elite sans pareil and a firmament of showbiz stars, ski whizzes and sopranos, chemists and sky watchers. Its attitudes embrace every philosophy from Anarchy to Zen; . . . both sensitive and sophisticated, it epitomizes more than any previous generation the definition of talent by Harvard Dropout Henry James as 'the art of being completely whatever it was that one happened to be.'"

A junior is the owner of a new '68 class ring, he attends a prom for the first time, works on longer and longer term papers, and finally owns a driver's license. A junior is a folk mass, he is elementary functions, he is $C_2H_5OH + H_2O \rightarrow KNO_3 + Fe^3$ and he is an inspiring retreat at Ryan Hall. He is a "who, what and why," he is asked to run for Student Council with a 72 average, and he is volleyball in English class. He is either a Shark or a Jet and a baby boy on Christmas day. A junior is his first College Boards, and also National Merit tests.

But a junior is also achieving maturity through experience, and increasing interests by associations. A junior is fully participating in school life, and finally, he is accepting the obligations of privileges and the privileges of responsibility.

A Sophomore is one thing to one person, and another thing to another person. He is "Franny and Zooie" in a course on sacraments, a first defeat for the basketball team; he is finally sixteen.

A Sophomore is high N.E.D.T. Test results; he is spilt books on the upper second floor; he is tough intramural competition. A Sophomore is "quack"; he is the change from Brother John to Brother Guy in the middle of the year. A Sophomore is writer's cramp in history; he is a study of the literary map of Pennsylvania, he is Michael Wigglesworth with the third person omniscient point of view.

A Sophomore is an upperclassman. He feels he is more than a Freshman, yet not equal to a Junior. A Sophomore is enthusiasm in all school activities, enthusiasm in his studies, he is enthusiasm backed up by a lot of school spirit. A Sophomore looks to the future with the awareness of bettering himself and those around him.

Freshmen

"Today's young man accepts none of the old start-on-the-bottom rung formulas that directed his father's career, and is not even sure he wants to be A Success. He is one already."

Time*, "Man of the Year"

This years Freshman Class, the graduating class of 1970, appears to be constantly looking toward the future; learning, observing, and adapting.

A freshman is group guidance sessions; he is intramural checkers, spilled books in the middle of the hall, and once-a-week art class. He is isolated on the 3rd floor; he is a bulging bookbag, a cracking voice, and a 10:30 lunch. He is a typing mistake with a years supply of Correct-type.

However, a freshman is also preparing to enter a world of individuality; he is discovering self-direction, and preparing for life in society with others. A freshman's embracing wisdom and the flow of activity, penetrating the horizon of personal achievement, he is new faces . . . new friends . . . new facts . . . new findings.

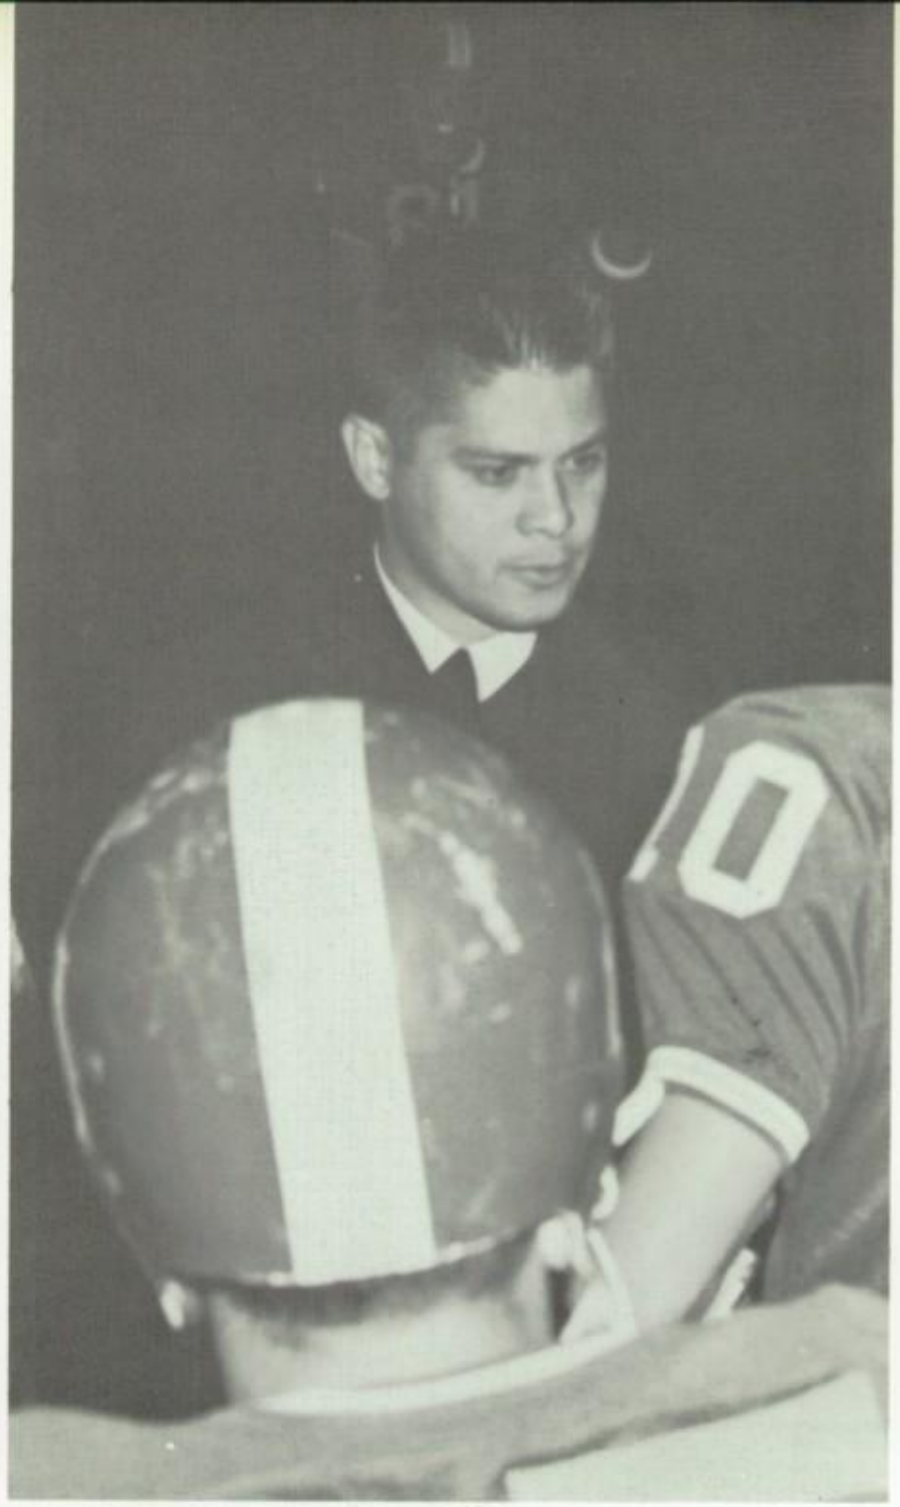
SPORTS



Interscholastic sports provide the better athlete with a challenge. He engages in sports on a larger scale and on a more proficient level. He must devote more time and exercise greater self discipline to master the sport. He participates in more intense competition with more heavily weighted outcomes. This is a great opportunity to learn to be a gracious winner or to accept limitation. The balanced player profits immensely from the opportunity provided by interscholastic sports.

"Athletics offers many opportunities for growth, self-improvement and maturity."

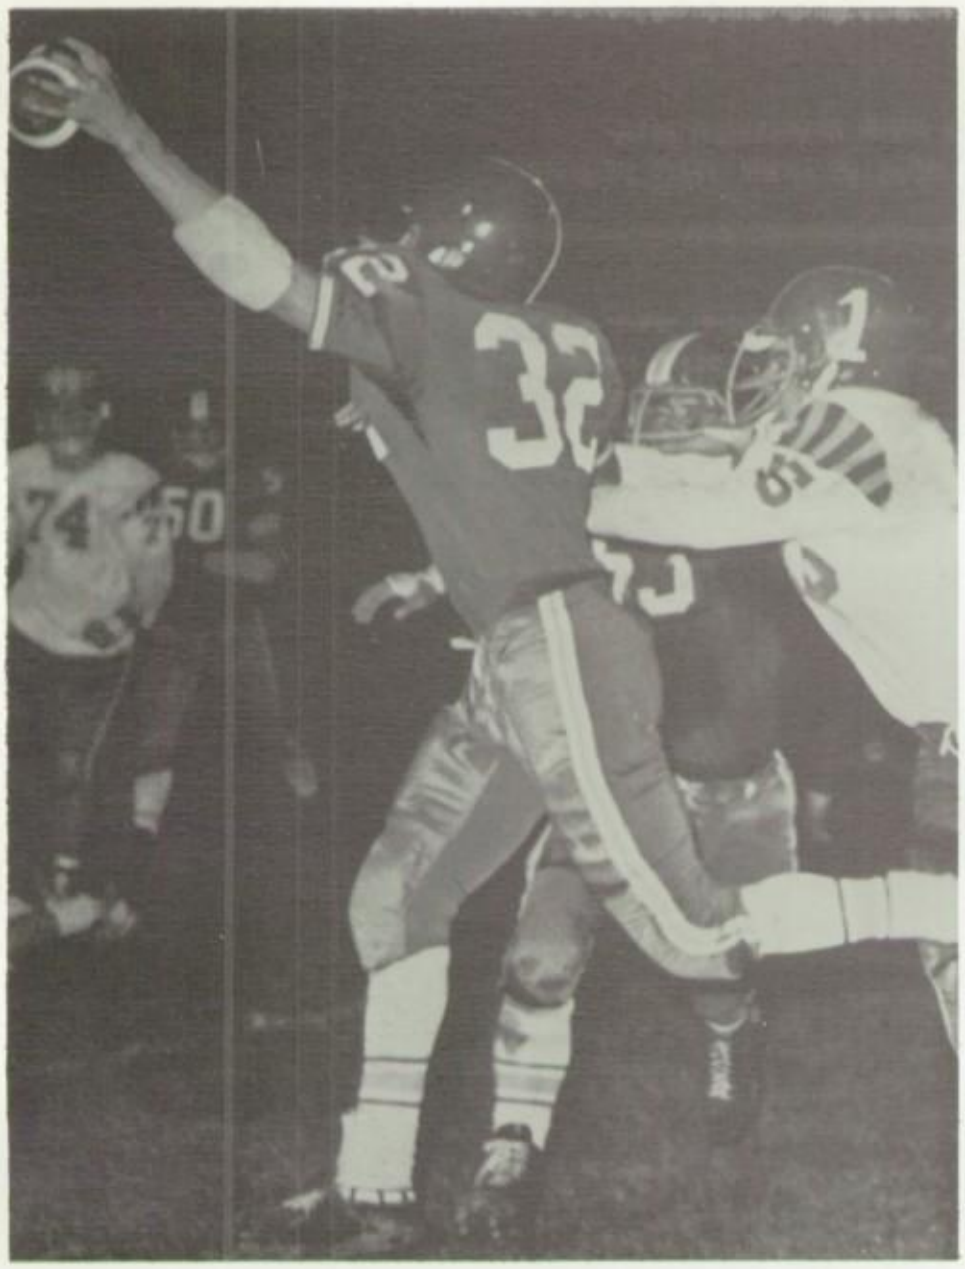
As one of the pre-season favorites to win the Catholic League crown, the South Catholic Rebels intended to do just that. They raced off to an early 5 and 0 season record before Central and Greensburg Catholic thwarted their hopes of a championship by a combined total of nine points. They finished the season in second place in the league.

South opened the season with an impressive 13-6 victory over a tough Kiski Area team and followed it up with another upset victory over Wheeling Central Catholic. This victory ended a 15-game winning streak. South then shutout Serra (34-0), North (8-0), and Mon Valley (20-0), before losing to Central (21-19) and Greensburg (14-7). The season ended with a hard fought win over Canevin and a run-away victory over Bishop Boyle.

Among those deserving recognition are the three "Big 33" nominees, Bill Walkauskas, Mark Fabian, and Cawood South. Bill McGregor, South's M.V.P., and Jim Lacey were selected to the Catholic League All-Stars along with Fabian and South. Others to be commended are seniors Rich Ambrose, Mike Adams, Mike Flynn, Terry Bell, Andy Achman, and Bob Lewis. Juniors Mike Silvester, Mike Riley, Kevin Mulvihill, Dennis Doran, and Dan Pierce, along with sophomore Joe Lauer, greatly assisted South's attack.

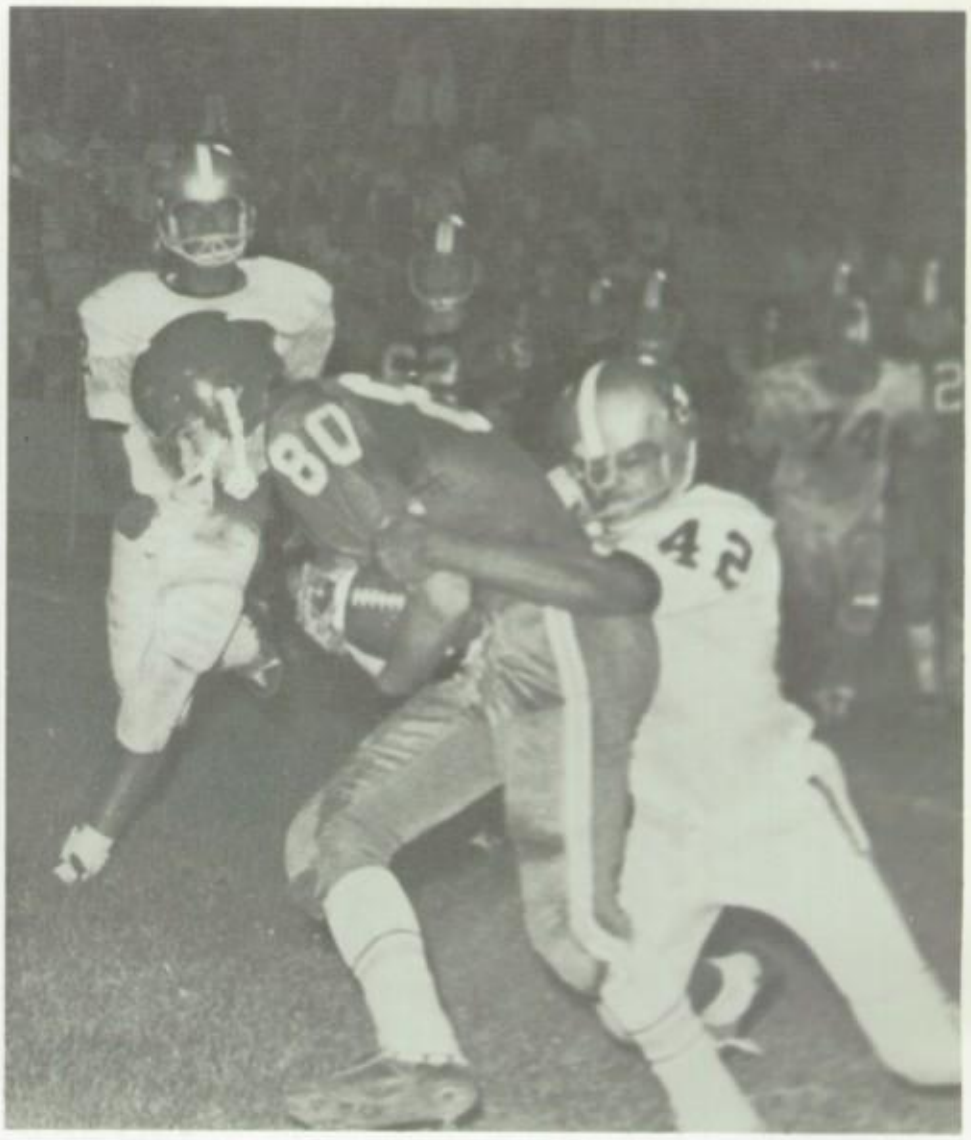


Mike Silvester snags a stray North Catholic pass before his momentum carries him out of bounds. Throughout the season, Mike was a major obstacle to the opposition's aerial attacks.

Jim Lacey breaks away from would-be tacklers on his way to another long run in the North game. Bill McGregor's key block sets up Lacey's run. Both Lacey and McGregor were named to the Catholic League All-Star Squad.

Terry Bell shakes a tackle and picks up a blocker on his way to scoring South's first T.D. in the Kiski game. Terry was an outstanding halfback for the Rebels until injuries sidelined him late in the season.

Head coach "Mush" Dubofsky points out future strategy for the rebel's attack to quarterback Rich Ambrose.



Dan Pierce makes a great catch and is immediately tackled by a Kiski defender. Dan is still a junior and will be a rebel standout on next year's varsity.

Cawood South and Denny Doran prepare to gang tackle an opposing runner before he can make any substantial gain.

Terry Bell tries to break away from a would-be tackler and go for long yardage in the Mon Valley game.

CROSS COUNTRY

Led by the running of junior Joe Creehan and seniors Jim Creehan, Keith Keener, Ken Kreehan, Bill Duffy, and Pat McCue, Brother J. Michael's harriers posted a 10-0 dual meet record. Also adding to this impressive showing was another junior, Jim Conley, who in his first season as a runner managed to hold his own and many times to surpass the more experienced members of the team. The high point of the season was a forfeit victory over Central in the last meet of the year. From there the team went on to the Catholic League Championship Meet in which it came in second. Among other laurels gained there were a second place finish in the Philadelphia Area Invitational Meet and a sixth place finish in the Tri-State Coaches Meet. Because of their fine showings, four members of the team made the All-Catholic Squad: Joe Creehan, Jim Creehan, Keith Keener, and Jim Conley.

The J.V.'s had an equally impressive record of 5-0, four of which were shutouts. The outstanding runners at this level were Don Creehan, Bill Creehan, Ken Williams, Lee Aber, Jim Malloy, and Joe Horgan.

The outlook for the '67 season is indeed very bright with Joe and Don Creehan, Jim Conley, Rick Fahey, Paul Stein, and Ken Williams expected to give good results.

BASKETBALL

The 1966-67 Rebel basketball team battled its way through 23 tough games to amass a fine 19-4 record. Led by 6'5" Steve Litz, they finished second in the closest, most evenly balanced Catholic League Pittsburgh has seen in years.

Steve was definitely South's big threat this year. Through 23 games this season, he poured in 642 points, a 28 point game average, and pulled down 506 rebounds, 22 per game. He broke nearly every individual, season and career mark in the South Hills Catholic record books. Among his many accomplishments are being named Most Valuable Player in the Catholic League, All-Catholic team member, All-State team member, member of Dell Sports' 100 best high school players in the country, and a member of the Pennsylvania All-Stars in the Dapper Dan Roundball Classic.

Steve was surrounded by an excellent group of ballplayers. Brian Yeckley directed South's attack this year with superb ball handling and constant hustle and desire. Joe Sipe and Bob Burner supplied the Rebels with extra help on the boards. Larry Welsch kept every defense honest with his deadly outside shot, and Bill Hartman, another of South's "soph-stand-outs," provided an extra scoring threat. Mike Silvester and Bob Binder added reserve strength.

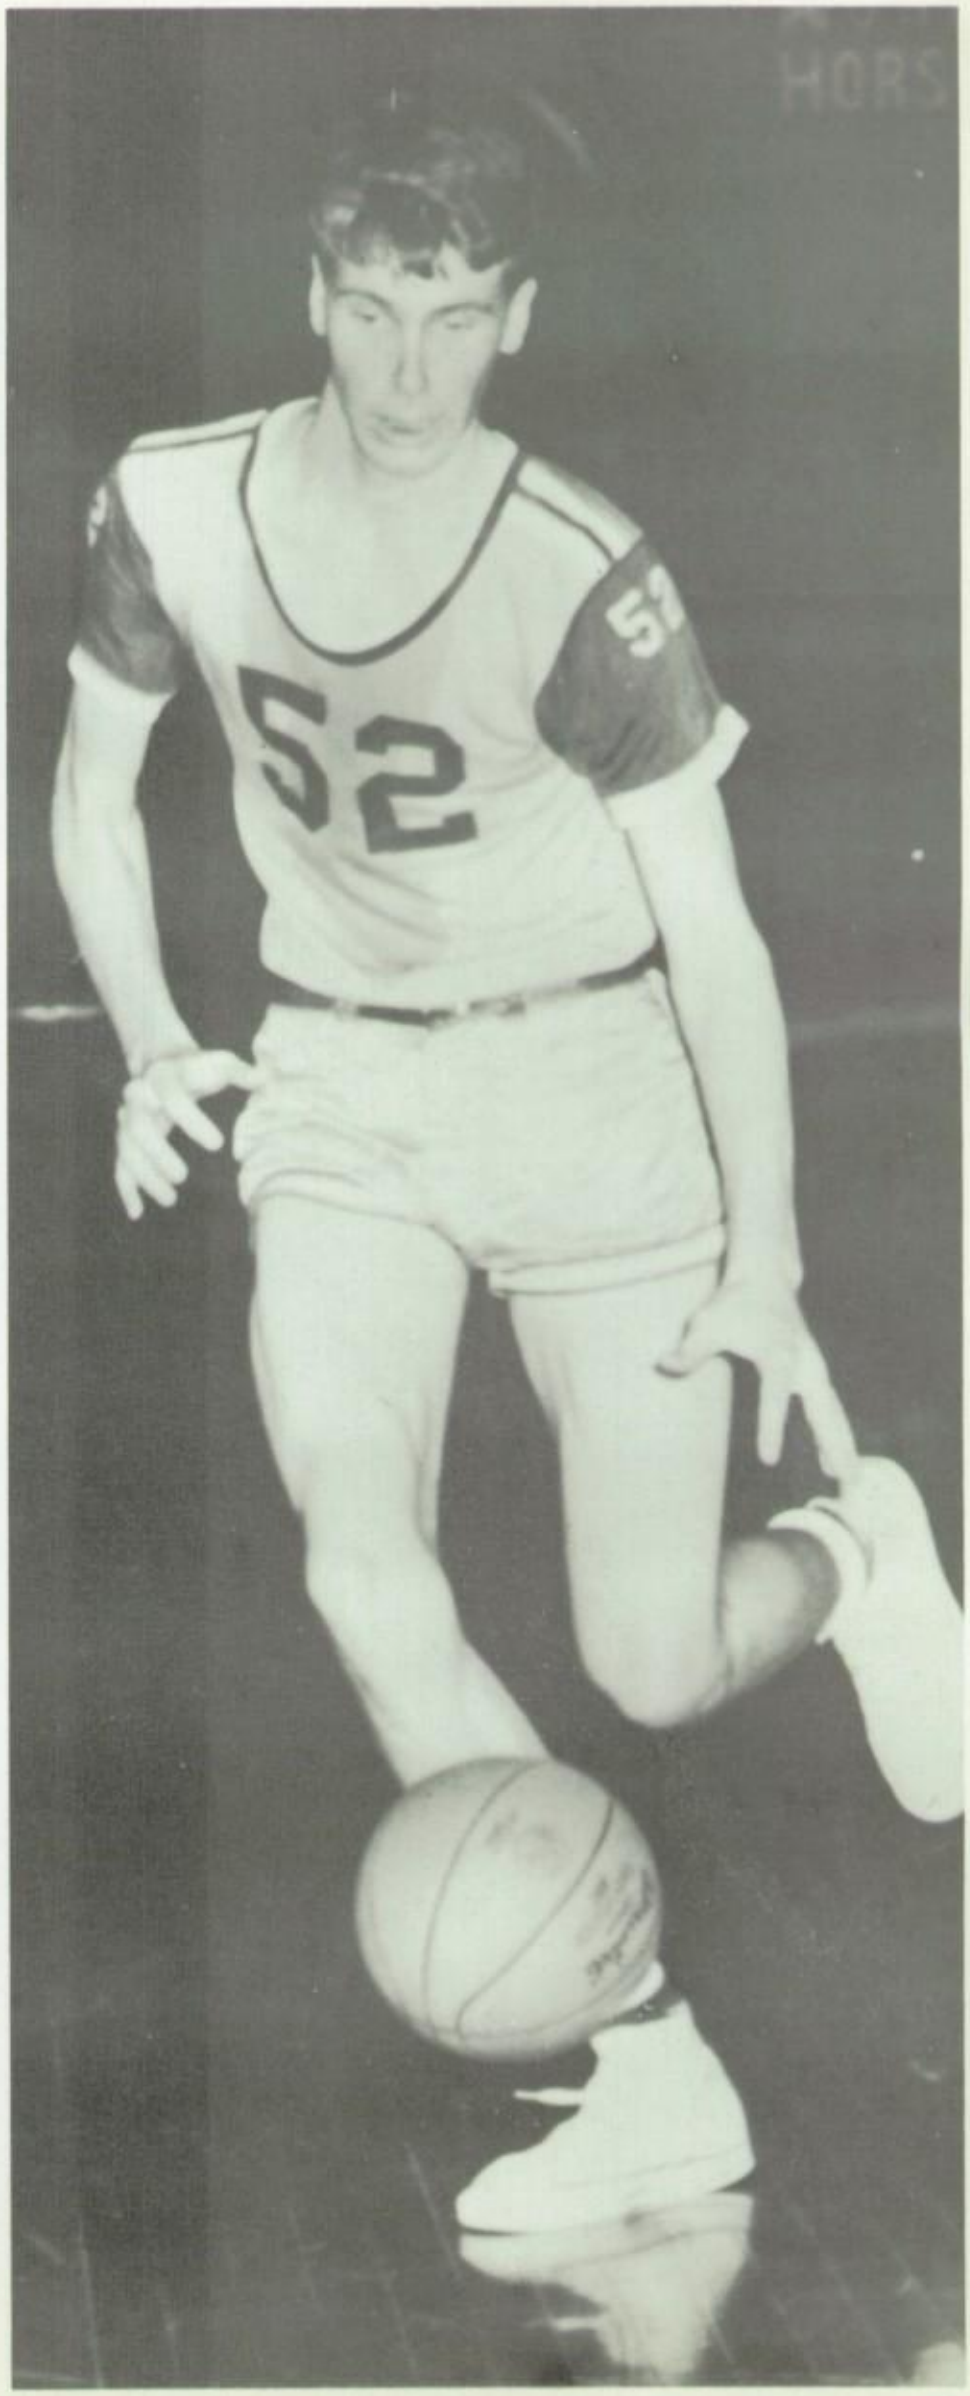
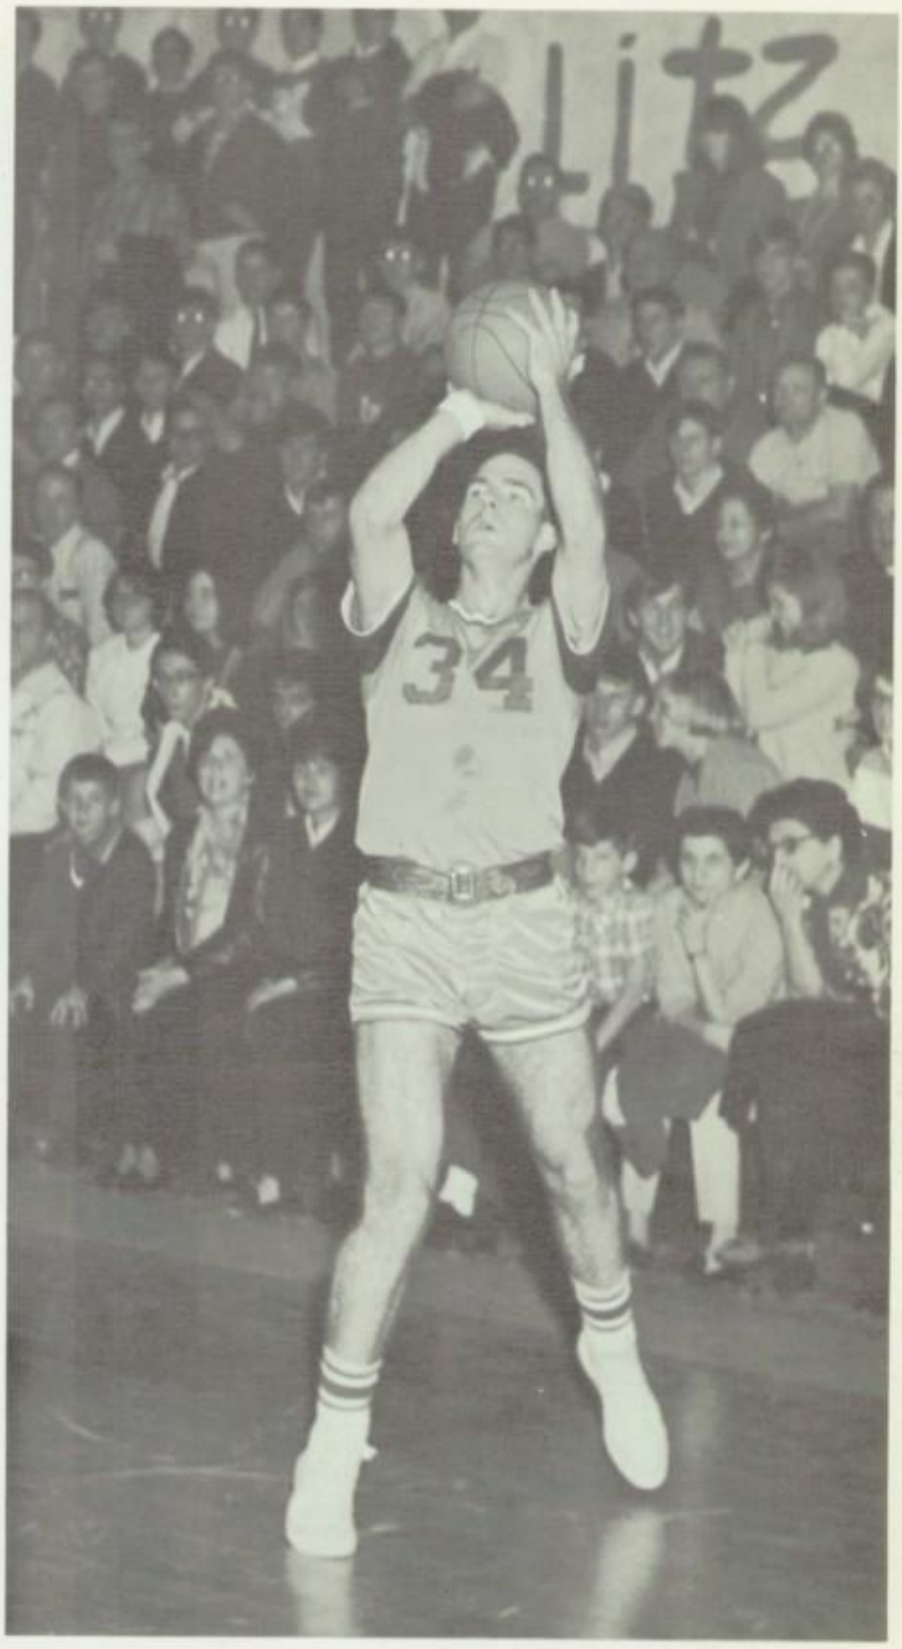
South's two highlights during the season were the stunning victory over Flemming-Neon, Kentucky, breaking a 30 game winning streak of the team which later became Kentucky State Champions, and the dramatic triple-overtime defeat by Canevin, a game that won't be soon forgotten by South fans. With seven talented juniors and a host of very capable sophomores returning, South rates as the top title contender of the Catholic League.

Showing his versatility, 6'6" Bob Burner dribbles down court breaking the defender's full court press.

Bob Binder outsteps two defenders and drives in for a layup in the Canevin game.





Senior Larry Welsch shows his excellent shooting style in scoring a vital two points for the Rebels.

TRACK

The 1966 Rebel Track Team under the direction of Messrs. James Palmer and James Gallagher completed the finest season in the history of South Hills Catholic. In tri-meets South ran up a record of 3-1 and in dual meets an impressive eight wins against three losses. The most outstanding dual meet victory was over the always powerful Central Catholic team. Last year's squad broke seven school records. The record-breakers were T. Bell, D. Wyatt, E. Cutler, J. Lauer, K. Creehan, B. Nagle, J. Creehan and C. South. Cawood South in breaking our school record for the pole vault also established the city record of 12'9". The 1967 Track team offers great promise with five of the above record-breakers returning to South.

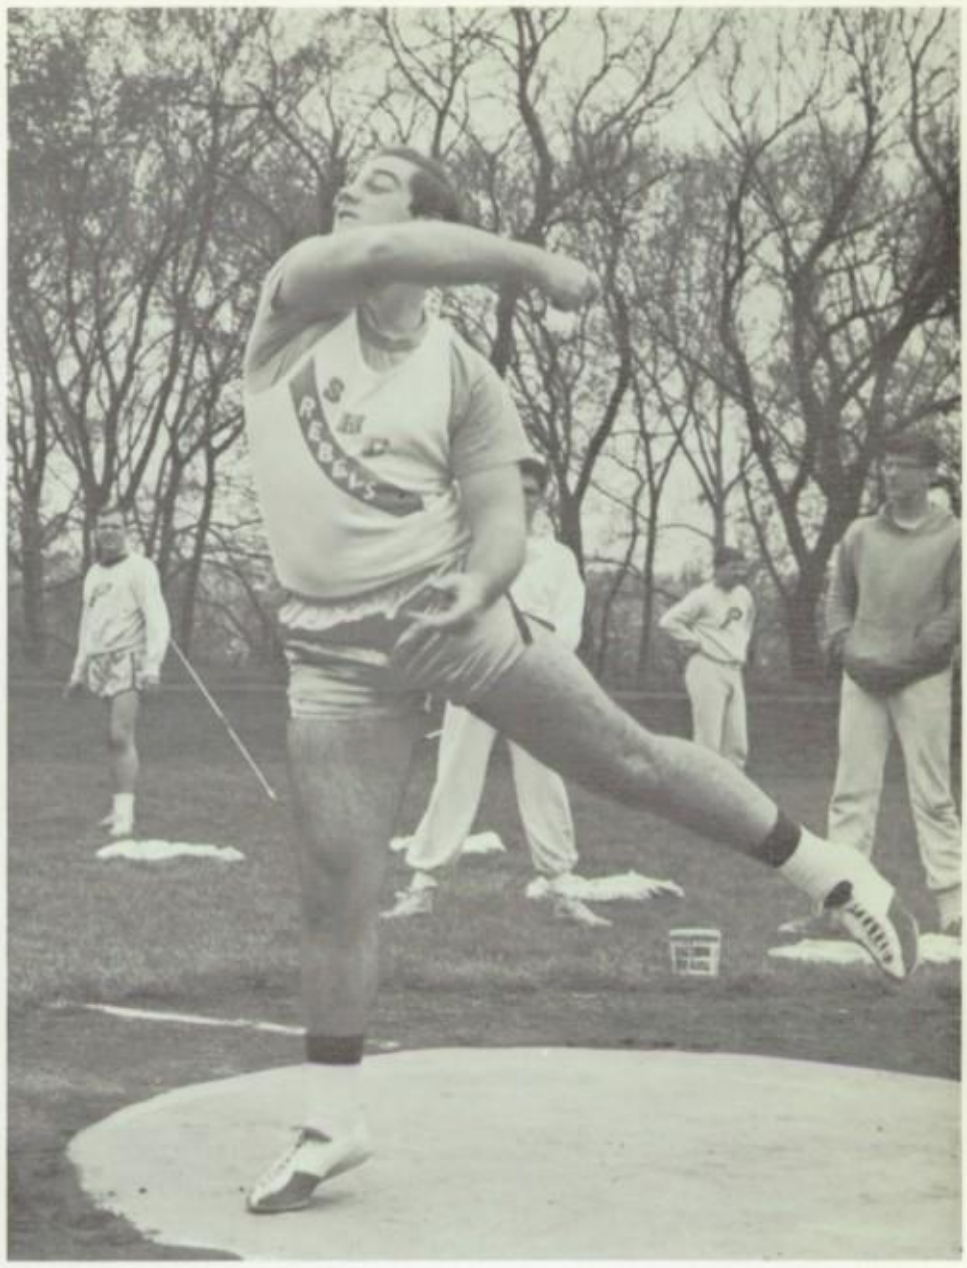
Gary Critchlow shows intense determination running the high hurdles in the Catholic League relays.

Cawood South, Catholic League pole vaulting champ, shows his excellent form in another field, the high jump.

In the shot-put event, Tom Nave strains every muscle in an attempt to better his last try.

Paul McGuff overcomes the last obstacle on his way to the finish line.

Joe Creehan comes in first, far ahead of the rest of the pack in the mile run.



Displaying his classic form, Mark Fabian sails the discus through the air.

Terry Bell, Ed Cutler, and Joe Lauer finish first, second and third in front of three slower Central opponents.

WRESTLING

The '67 wrestlers presented a soph-studded varsity lineup this past season, a fact which militated against the retention of the two major honors gained a year ago when SHC was kingpin of the Diocesan League and runner-up to Easton Notre Dame in the PCIAA finals. Still and all the Green and Gold posted another winning dual match campaign, at the same time gave several sophomores much varsity experience and made a strong start towards a solid junior varsity program.

Statistically, these were our best:

Bill Walkauskas, '67 — Diocesan heavyweight champion; #2 in the Regionals and #3 in the PCIAA finals

Bob Lewis, '67 — posted a 4-2-0 record

Jim Montuoro, '67 — took 4th place in the Western Regionals at 120

Dean Engle, '68 — 138-pound Diocesan and Regionals champion

Mike Click, '68 — Diocesan finalist at 145

Jim Lacey, '68 — Diocesan finalist at 154

Kevin Mulvihill, '68 — 180-pound Regional finalist; #4 in State

Mike Flanagan, '69 — Diocesan finalist; #3 in Regionals; State finalist at 112

Mark Schulte, '69 — Undefeated 88-pounder during regular season; #3 at 95 lbs. in Regionals and also PCIAA finals

Hampered by injuries and lack of experience, the 1966 Rebel baseball squad was not able to turn in a winning record. Consisting of many underclassmen, the team exhibited drive and the desire to win. This rebuilding season was far from a failure however. The fine coaching of Mr. Jerry Conboy and Mr. Tom Torchia and the example provided by senior stars John Cambest, Tom Kennedy and Rich Nerone will certainly affect the future baseball teams at South. The many underclassmen who had the opportunity to compete in the 1966 season will bring much needed experience to the 1967 team.

INTRAMURALS

South Hills Catholic's intramural program is one of the most complete in the state. Boasting a fourteen sport program, the intramurals run from the opening week in September until early June. The program has been organized so as to take into consideration the many talents and abilities of the student body. The sports include: football, basketball, track, wrestling, golf, bowling, volleyball, tug-of-war, softball, horseshoes, ping-pong, chess, checkers, and rifle. The success of the program is well testified by the 87 percent of the student body who participate.

In addition to the inherent reward of participation, each semester during a special intramural assembly, trophies and certificates are presented to the winning classes. Guest speakers such as Sam McDowell of the Cleveland Indians and Ken Stiley, chief talent scout for the Pittsburgh Steelers, and film programs add greater interest to these assemblies.

BAND

The marching and concert band gave South Hills Catholic a position of excellence in still another field, music. From the half-time football shows to the Spring Concert, the band exhibited its talents to appreciative audiences in the tri-state area. Their excellent renditions were the result of many hours of hard work, including weekly practice during the summer months culminated by a band camp at Grove City College in August. The band was also a standout in the field of concerts, giving two this year the Spring Concert and the Christmas Concert. The Rebel Band can also be credited in a large degree for the spirit around South, providing the needed spark at a pep rally or basketball game to set the students off with cries of victory and pride. Largely responsible for the success of the band were Mr. Frank Zych and Mr. Edward Shiner, introducing new exciting scores to South's vast collection of songs. The band was moderated by Brother Russ Foss and Brother Charles Bennell.

"When a man takes an oath . . ." Sir Thomas More tries to explain his position to Lady Alice and Lady Margaret, while the Duke of Norfolk, Will Ropar and the Common Man listen intently.

The appearance of A MAN FOR ALL SEASONS on the South Catholic stage was an outstanding event in many ways. It marked the first time that Robert Bolt's prize-winning play was presented by a high school dramatic club, and indeed it was the first time that a play of such a nature was produced by the MASQUES. Encompassing striking lighting effects, lavish and colorful costumes, superior acting talent, an excellent script set in the turbulent times of Henry VIII, and all under the professional direction of Mr. Ted White, A MAN FOR ALL SEASONS has to be the most significant production yet to be seen at South.

Robert Gutkowski appeared in the leading role of Sir Thomas More, and gave such a performance that it was hard to believe that this was his first appearance on stage. Ralph Stalter portrayed the "Common Man" with such a special quality that he, as an intermediary between the action of the play and the audience, helped by his performance to change the viewers from mere spectators to actual participants in the ageless struggle between a man's conscience and his civic duty. Special mention should also be made of the professional performance Kathryn Flanagan gave in the feminine lead of Lady Alice, Thomas More's wife.

Above—After a year of imprisonment, More is permitted a brief visit with his family.

Below—"These words, Sir Thomas, are not mine, but the king's. Believe that." Cromwell addresses Sir Thomas More.

Left—Perjuring himself, Richard Rich begins the testimony which leads to the eventual death of Thomas More.

Lower Right—More reassures the executioner that he should not fear his office, that he sends More to God.

Lower Left—On way to the block, More is confronted by those who tempted him to act against his conscience.

GENTLEMEN OF SONG

The quality of this year's Gentlemen of Song surpasses the high standards in music they have set for themselves. This, the sixth group of "Gents" follows the tradition of being one of the best choral groups in the South Hills area.

The "Gents' " repertoire for this season include the best songs from recent musical comedies, "Matchmaker" from Fiddler On the Roof, "Soon It's Gonna Rain" from the Fantasticks, and many others. These numbers are complimented by the various comedy routines originated by Mr. Ted White, director. In his own way, Mr. White adds a flair of the professional to all the Gentlemen of Song performances.

Back for his second year with the "Gents" is Paul Symcowiak, an accomplished accordionist who sends the audience reeling with his "Zorba the Greek."

This year, a new personality has been added to the "Gents' " main attractions. He is Bob Mason, a senior at South, and an excellent flamenco guitarist. Bob, who is undoubtedly one of the top talents in this area, captivates the audience with his mastry.

Mr. Ted White founded the organization six years ago and has been its Director ever since. Under his guidance the Gentlemen of Song have gained national as well as local fame.

One reason for the Gentlemen of Song's success year after year is the number of sophomores and juniors.

The seniors of the Gentlemen of Song, some in their third year with the organization, have been the backbone of the group.

The 1966-67 season was the most active and vigorous in the history of the SHC Forensic Society. The season got off to a promising start with the largest influx of new members since the founding of the club. Hardly a weekend passed without a speech or debate tournament attended by enthusiastic members—old and new. In all their activities the SHC Forensic Society was guided by Brother James and Brother Joseph.

The debators began extensive work on the national debate topics early in the summer. Added to their efforts was the success of Bill Cunningham, who received a scholarship to the Debate Institute of Georgetown University. Varsity debators Misner, Graham, Cunningham, and Hankowski faced a heavy schedule of tournaments. The high points of the debate season were a perfect 4-0 record at Wheeling College and a perfect affirmative record at Sacred Heart. Invitations to tournaments at Boston College and St. John's University indicated South's Forensic reputation was growing.

In the category of Student Congress, 1966-67 was marked by unusual activity and success. Claude Graham was elected presiding officer of the NFL Senate at Elizabeth Seton, and later captured a superior speaker award at the Fontbonne NFL Congress.

Mr. William Thieman, president of the Parents' Club, checks plans for the four major meetings.

South Hills Catholic Parents' Club exists to establish stronger relations between the faculty and parents through formal and informal meetings. Brother Alfred, Principal, formed the Parents' club by combining the Men's Club and the Mothers' Guild. Brother Andrew moderates the Club.

Four major meetings and several socials marked the club calendar. Of special interest was the November student-parent debate on the topic of "authority." Five students and four parents formed a panel which discussed the problem of discipline versus freedom. The discussion of school curriculum also drew large numbers of interested parents.

In its initial year, the club met with great success. It promises to be one of South's most significant and beneficial organizations.

KNIGHT

The 1967 KNIGHT attempts to capture the spirit of South Hills Catholic in pictures and words. Under the direction of Brother Vincent Walters, moderator, and Mike Duffy, editor-in-chief, the yearbook staff worked for ten months, selecting pictures, designing page lay-outs, writing captions and copy, meeting deadlines.

Vic Lovuola and Larry Enright worked as associate editors, while Ed Bauer, Bob Argentine and Gary Brubach filled key positions on the staff. Vic Lovuola, the student photographer, and Hills Studio in East Liberty, provided high quality pictures for the KNIGHT.

SHC—TV

Channel 5

The 1966-67 school year proved to be the year in which South Hills Catholic finally put its extensive television system into regular, constant use. Thanks to the untiring efforts of our principal, Brother Alfred, in this regard, a fine group of talented students has combined its resources to produce a quality ten-minute television program every school day.

The production staff is led by its able and efficient moderator, Brother Gerard Molyneaux. Consisting of artists, announcers, and writers, this group has ably shown its talents in every television broadcast.

Behind the scenes, the highly skilled and very efficient technical staff continually shows professionalism with each broadcast. Under the advice and direction of Mr. Yannone and Brother Richard Francis, this foursome expertly presides over all telecasts.

An interesting, informative program is presented every morning to the students and faculty, along with special half-hour panel discussions presented at various times during the school year. The closed-circuit television station, which operates under Channel 5, is the first high school television station in this area.

Framed by announcers Bill Cunningham and John Cardarelli, camera operator Dave Slavish and the rest of Channel 5's technical staff keep a close watch on all proceedings. Tight and constant co-operation between technical and non-technical members of the television staff has helped make these broadcasts highly successful.

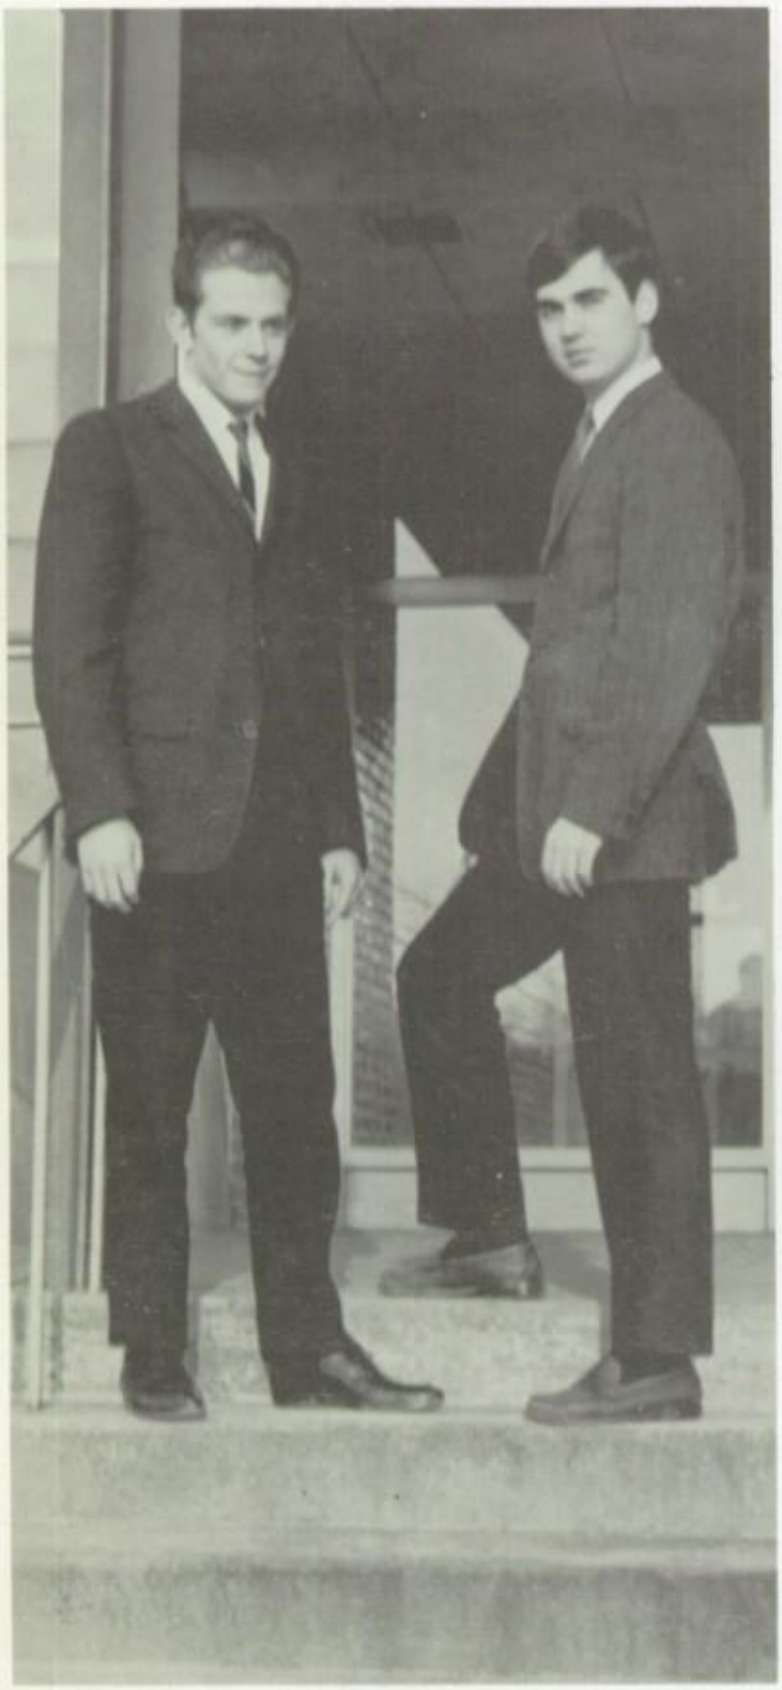
STUDENT COUNCIL



With a step in the right direction, Rich Kappler, President, and Bob Papariella, Vice-President, are preparing to lead the Student Council to great heights in '66-'67.

Jim Mackey, Treasurer, tries analyzing the "handwriting on the calendar" while Secretary Steve Litz adds some important scheduled events.

South's Student Council, under the able direction of Mr. Herman Yannone, functions as the representative body to which the students may voice their suggestions, complaints, and requests. This is carried out primarily through the elected class representatives to the Council.

Some of the various activities sponsored by the Student Council this year have been: Weekly Friday Night Dances, The Junior Ring Ceremony, Spirit Committee and Cheerleaders, The Junior-Senior Date-Dance, Toner Christmas Party, and the Christmas Prom.

The officers of the 1966-67 Student Council were President Rich Kappler, Vice-President Bob Papariella, Secretary Steve Litz, and Treasurer Jim Mackey. The dedication of these four leaders was responsible for maintaining South's high academic and social standing.

Ever-present, always on the go, Mr. Yannone, with many years of experience and dedication, makes the Student Council ring as he "rings" for the Student Council.

SPIRIT

Pictured on this page are the different facets of South Hills Catholic Spirit. The cheerleaders, composed of girls from Elizabeth Seton, Fontbonne and Saint Francis high schools, were introduced this year by the Student Council. The girls' cheers added much variety to football and basketball games. The Spirit Committee, headed by Jim Mackey, formed the nucleus of student spirit at South. The Gold Bananas, the student cheerleaders, stirred up the crowds with their stunts. An example of the Spirit Committee's work is seen in the Snoopy poster which hung in the main corridor. Colorful poster displays preceded each Rebel encounter. The group cheering at the Canevin game demonstrates South's spirit in action.

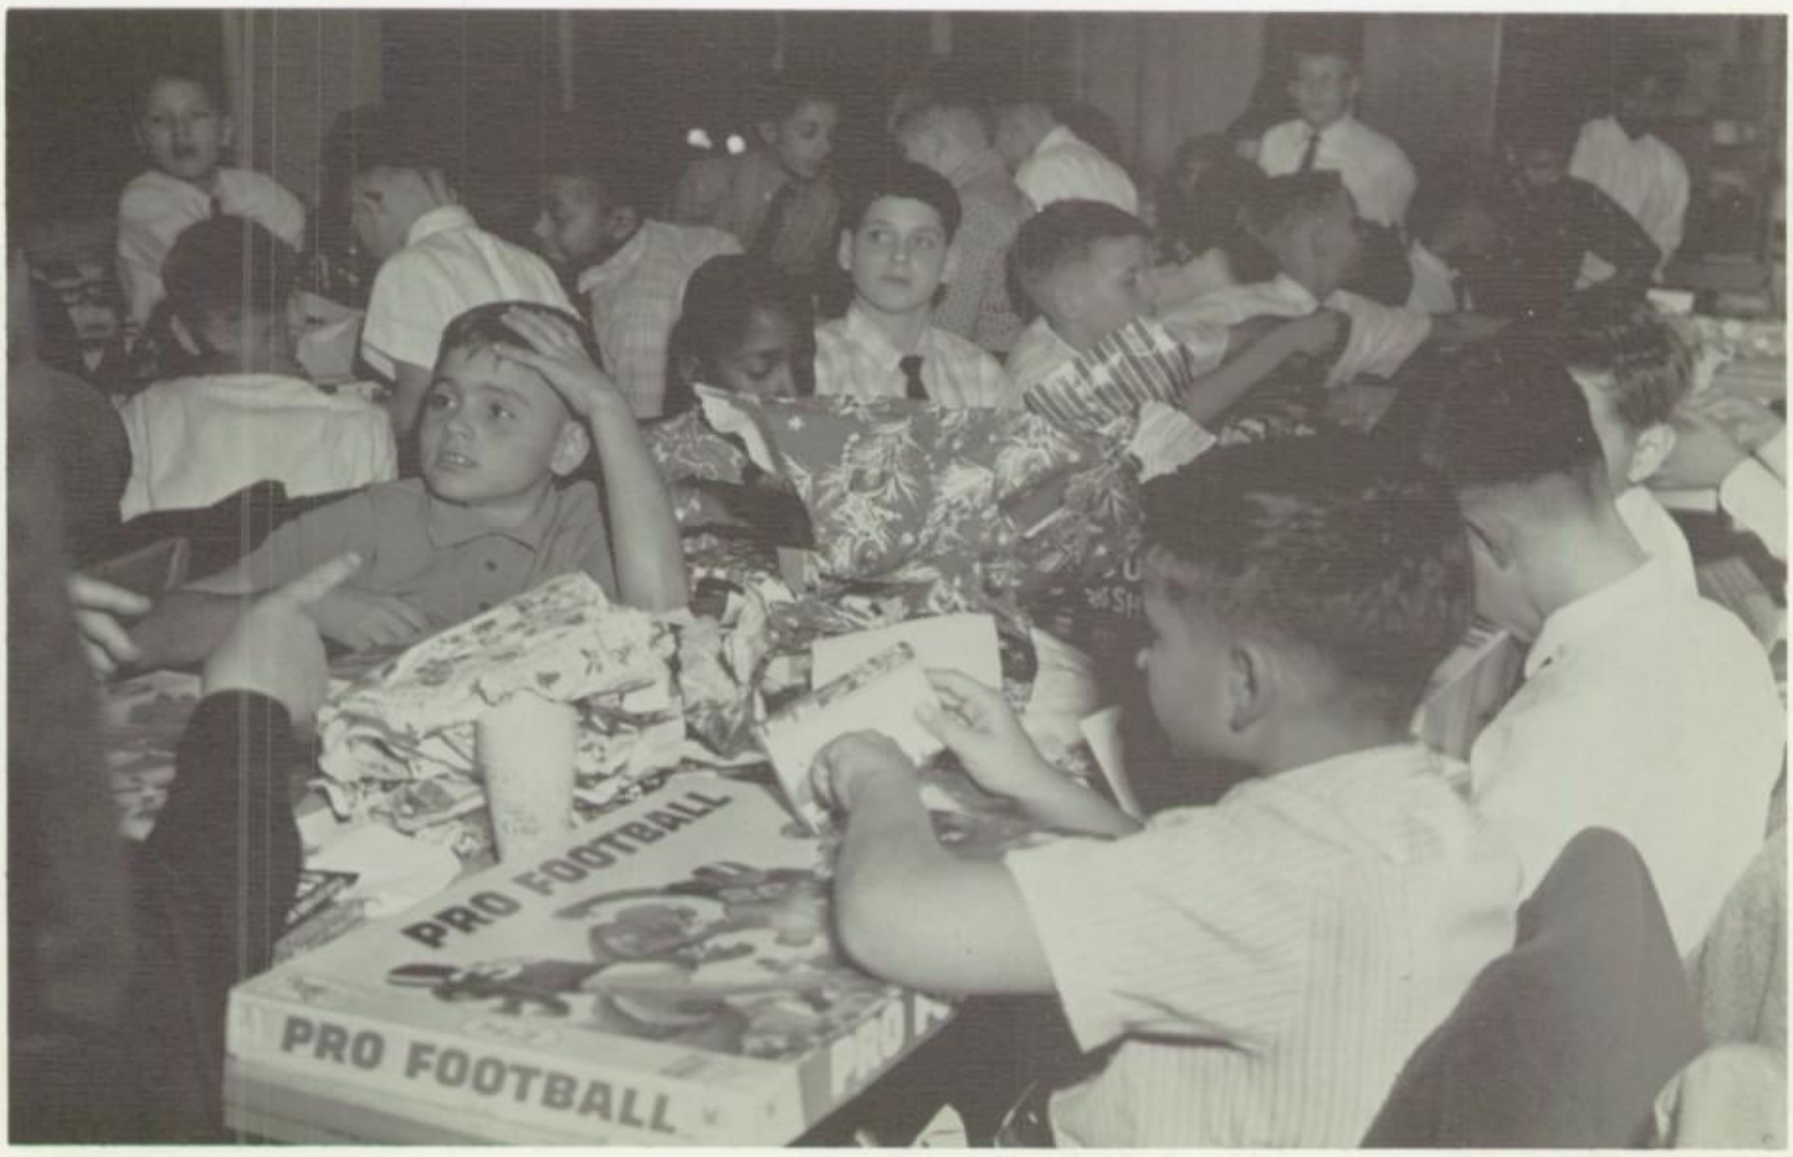
Christmas is truly a day for children, and it was the pleasure of the South Catholic Student Body to play Santa Clause for these children from Toner Institute. Each homeroom contributed presents for two children.



CHRISTMAS PROM

On the evening of December 29, 1966, South Hills Catholic's Student Council held its annual Christmas Prom. The prom was very appropriately entitled "Twilight in December," and it was held in the Georgian Room of the Hotel Webster Hall in Oakland. One of the most successful proms to date, this event clearly had its own unique splendor. More than 140 couples attended the affair. If the couples were not gathered around candlelit tables sipping punch and munching cookies, most likely they were dancing to the enjoyable entertainment of Tommy Payne and his orchestra. The king and queen of this year's Christmas Prom were Brendan Tuite and Kathy Flanagan. This annual Yuletide event was moderated by Mr. Herman Yannon with help from Bro. Richard Francis, Bro. Gerard Molyneaux, and Bro. Carl Roth.

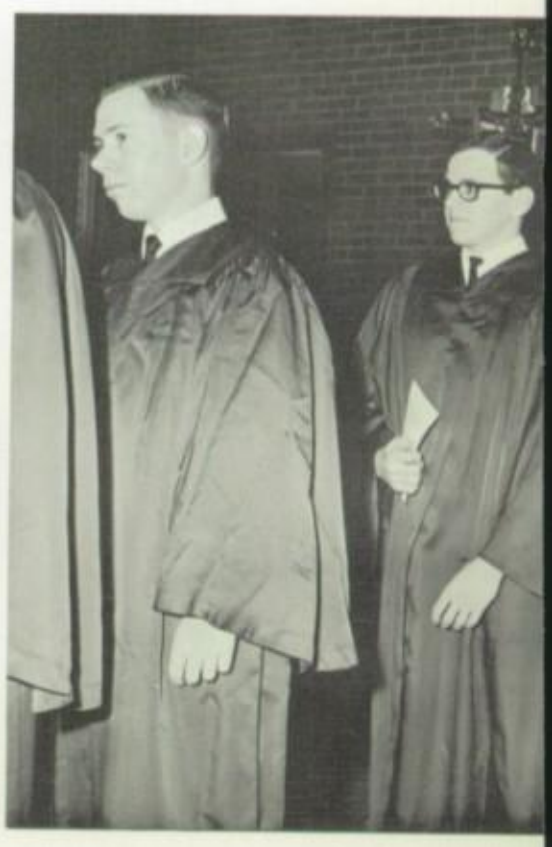
NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

A variety of qualities marks the members of the National Honor Society. The first is scholarship, an effort to escape the doldrums of intellectual mediocrity through dedication and discipline. The second is leadership, the ability to direct oneself and others. The third is service, the gift of self to benefit others. The final attribute is character, a constant practice of honesty, perseverence, and charity. Thirty-eight students of South Hills Catholic were selected as outstanding examples of these four qualities during their high school years.

The third annual induction ceremony was held in South Hills Catholic auditorium on January 12. During the ceremony, guest speaker, Brother Nicholas Sullivan, F.S.C., Ph.D., challenged the members to diversity and austerity in their academic careers. Following the ceremony a buffet was served for the parents and guests.

Rick Kappler, Steve Litz, Claude Graham, and Mike Duffy review their speeches defining Leadership, Character, Scholarship and Service before the National Honor Society ceremony.



The members of the 1967 National Honor Society: Michael Duffy, James Montuoro, Robert Mason, Andrew Achman, William Cunningham, Claude Graham, James Bradley, Brendan Tuite, Brian Yeckley, Joseph Misner, Frank Simcik, Robert Gutowski, Earl Bellisario, William Patterson, Richard Kappler, Norbert Staniszewski, Richard Windgassen, Victor Lovuola, William Seiss, Kenneth K. Brother Nicholas Sullivan, F.S.C., Ph.D., internationally famous lecturer, addresses the members of the National Honor Society challenging them on austerity and diversity for their future.

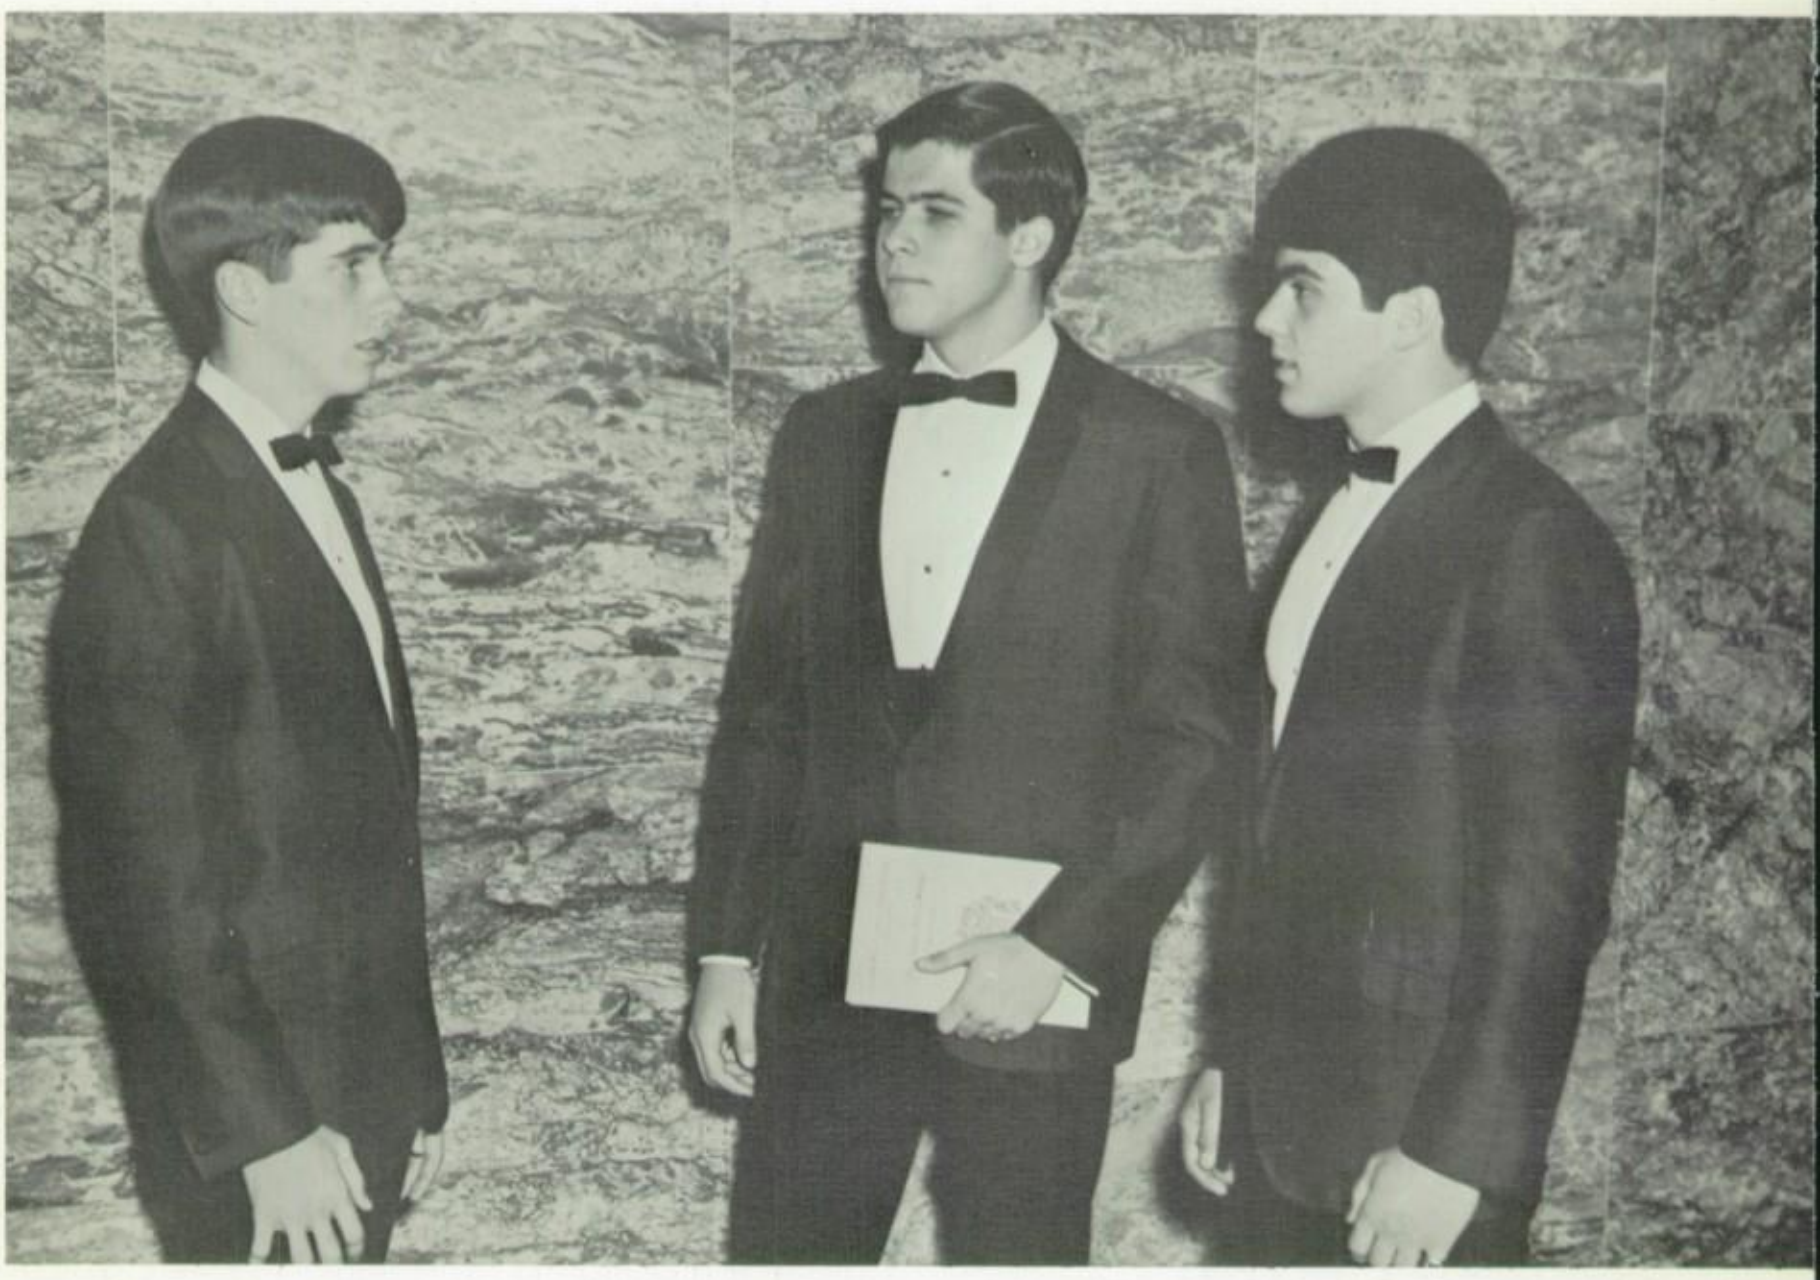
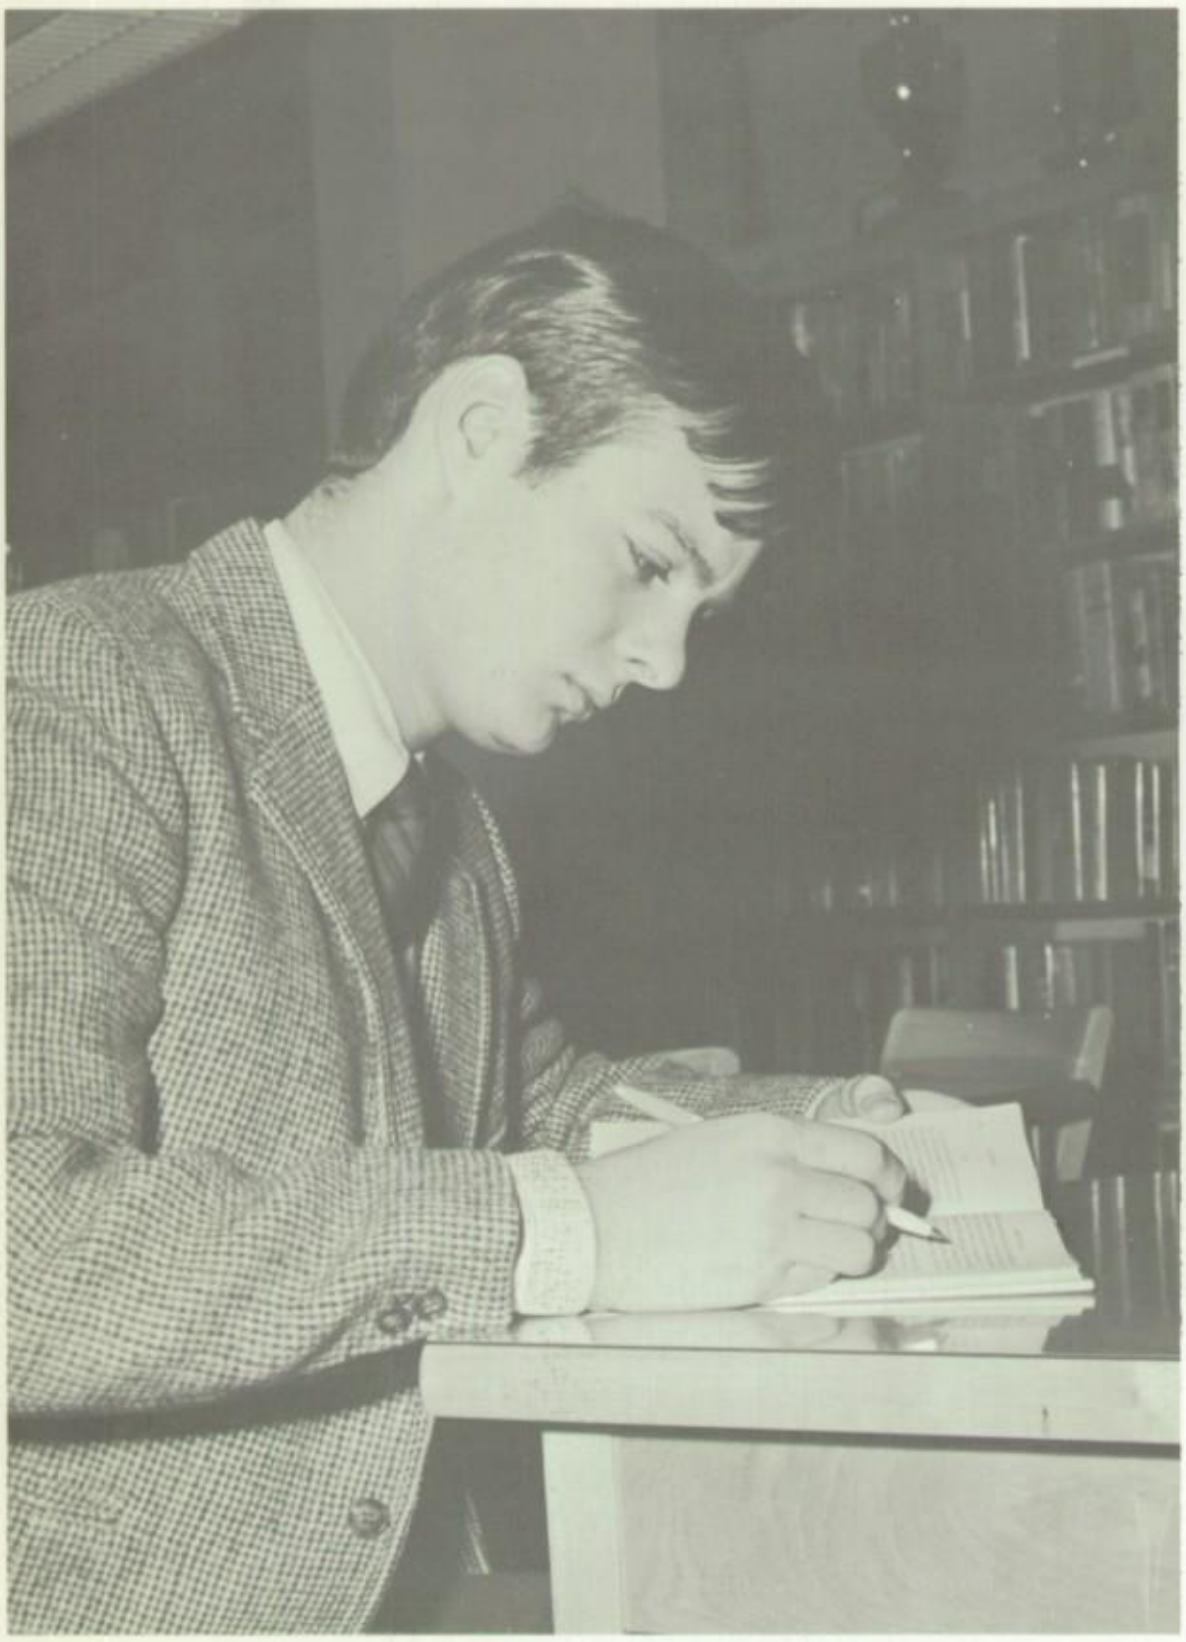
"What is the past, after all, but a vast blanket of darkness through which a few moments, picked perhaps at random, shine."

Updike





"The task before us now,
if we would not perish, is to shake off
our ancient prejudices and to build the earth."
